6. For, tediousness, read, I am sorry for it———We have a strong weakness in N. E. that when we are speaking, we know not how to conclude: we make many ends, before we make an end: the fault is in the Climate; we cannot help it though we can, which is the Arch infirmity in all morality: We are so near the West pole, that our Longitudes are as long, as any wise man would wish, and somewhat longer: I scarce know any Adage more gratefull: than Grata brevitas.

Verba confer maxime ad compendium. Plaut.

Coblers will mend, but some will never mend,
But end, and end, and end, and never end.
A well-girt hour gives every man content,
Six ribs of beef, are worth six weeks of Lent.

For, all my other faults, which may be more and greater than I see; read, I am heartily sorry for them, before I know them, least I should forget it after; and humbly crave pardon at adventure, having nothing that I can think of, to plead but this,

Quisquis inops peccat, minor est reus. Petron.

Poor Coblers well may fault it now and then,
They'r ever mending faults for other men.
And if I work for nought, why is it said,
This bungling Cobler would be soundly paid?

So farewell England old

If evil times ensue,

Let good men come to us,

Wee'l welcome them to New.

And farewell Honor'd Friends,
If happy dayes ensue,
You'l have some Guests from hence.
Pray Welcome us to you.

And farewell simple World,

If thou'lt thy Cranium mend,

There is my Last and All.

And a Shoem-Akers

END.
